

We've all been wondering for quite a while now how work was progressing on the planned Daredevil reboot, and the director of the upcoming reboot has taken to Twitter (you can find a link to his account by clicking below) to clear up the status of the movie at this current time. Well, you can't really argue with that in all honesty! While a rushed production can still result in something excellent (see: X-Men: First Class) the fact that Slade is putting such focus into getting the script right first is surely for the best, especially after the disappointing 2003 version. All I can hope is that they're keeping a close eye on the new comic book series by writer Mark Waid and artists Paolo Rivera and Marcos Martin, because the tone in that would make for a killer Daredevil flick! As usual, be sure to share your thoughts in the usual

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=46111&t=David\_Slade\_Offers\_Up\_A\_Brief\_Update\_On\_iDaredevili\_font\_color\_redResponds\_To\_Michael\_C\_Hall\_Fan\_Castfont