

Airachid: "You have something to say, Soundwave?" Soundwave: "....." Airachid: "I command this vessel, you will resume your post!" Soundwave: "....." I don't know about you guys, but I've been dying of anticipation to watch this episode all week. Once I saw the preview, it was one of those "freeze and jaw on the floor moments." I had high expectations for this episode. Now that I've watched it, (and again on YouTube) I'll give you a review, and even a look-back at the first season, talking about the characters, and what they got right and wrong. Minor spoilers approaching. The plot continues as Optimus and the Autobots follow Megatron into the core of Unicron. Meanwhile, aboard the Decepticon vessel, Airachid claims that Megatron is lost, and that the Decepticons should move on with her in charge. Soundwave has something to say about that.... Wow. That was the one word I thought while watching it. After, I

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Destroyer14/news/?a=48288&t=Destroyer_14s_Review_of_iTransformers_Prime_Season_Finale_and_Look-Back