

Total Film have posted a pretty in depth description of the footage they saw last night including some dialog. Below is the extra stuff that hasn't already been covered in other articles. Honestly, I haven't even read through the dialog bits myself, I just posted when I saw quotations! I don't want to know any more about this prologue until I see it, but for those of you that love SPOILERS and don't want to wait here you go.. SPOILERS SPOILERS SPOILERS From Total Film.. The opening piece of footage from the promo suggests that District Attorney Harvey Dent, who became Two Face in The Dark Knight, remains clear of the crimes he committed. Not good news for Batman who took the fall in his place. "I knew Harvey Dent. I was his friend. And it will be a very long time before someone inspires us the way he did," says
