

Thanks to Kleefeld On Comics, we have the following account of his experiences on the set of The Avengers over the past couple of nights. It seems they've been far more secretive than we first realized, as both Iron Man (more than likely a stunt double in the suit as Robert Downey Jr. is said to not be attending the filming in Cleveland) and Black Widow were also there a couple of nights ago. Most interesting is the fact that Captain America clashes with the God of Mischief, which backs up some of the previous rumors we've heard. We even have a line of his dialogue...sounds very Cap-like, eh? Today's my first night on The Avengers set. (They're pretty strict about cameras, so no pics. Sorry.) They're filming a scene where Loki shows up on Earth and Black Widow, Captain America and Iron Man take him on. I'm on the sidelines

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45071&t=Details_About_A_Scene_Between_Captain_America_And_Loki_Black_Widow_And_Iron_Man_Spotted