

Monica Key has posted some rather interesting information over at Examiner featuring revealing and intriguing new details about the scenes set to be filmed on the "Smallville" Man of Steel set in Plano, IL. You can head on over there to read more by clicking the link below, and be sure to check out the Superman: Man of Steel (2013) Facebook page by clicking HERE. According to Plano Area Chamber of Commerce executive Richard Healy, "They're going to be blowing stuff up." Healy also states at some time during the filming soldiers will repel from a helicopter onto the set. Whatever weapons they will be shooting, Healy also added that brass shell casings would be left on the streets. What do you guys think? Will we see Superman take on the military, or could this have something to do with General Zod attacking Smallville?! We know that Man of Steel will

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=43876&t=Details_Revealed_For_Action_Packed_iMan_Of_Steel_Smallville_Scenes