

I've already been proved wrong once today with my theory that the "Leviathan" was just a name for the large camera spotted on the set of The Avengers over the weekend. You see, while I may spend a fair bit of time here on CBM writing about movies, I'm not ashamed to admit that I looked at that call sheet and made a wrong assumption when the camera was indeed listed separately. To me, it seemed far more likely than a giant (sea?) creature and many of you agreed that it was a likely possibility. Anyway, here I go again! For a while now, I've wondered whether Joss Whedon would use the alien race he created during his run on Astonishing X-Men, the Breakworlders. Despite originally appearing in an X-Men book, I see no reason why Fox would hold the right to them, and with recent rumors indicating that the aliens

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45865&t=Did_You_Know_That_iThe_Avengersi_Leviathan_Was_Referenced_In_iAstonishing_X-Meni