

The French website, CineHeroes had a chat with director Peter Berg recently and one of the topics of discussion was Hancock 2. Here's what Berg had to say. Translation from BleedingCool.com: This should be done. We are in talks. Once our respective projects will be finished, that Will Smith is finished with Men In Black 3, once I'm done with Battleship and Lone Survivor, we will. I talked with Will Smith, he is always ready. Of course, Will Smith is also in talks to star in another sequel [or prequel, if you're being technical] to one of his blockbusters, I Am Legend. Time will tell whether this proves to come to fruition as the schedule Berg creates puts the Hancock 2 start date pretty far from now and in Hollywood, a number of things could pop-up to derail the project between now and then. The film earned $624,386,746 at the box-office

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=55285&t=Director Peter Berg Has An Idea Of When HANCOCK 2 Filming Will Begin>