

The Hollywood Reporter have broken the news that Disney XD's first programme in their Marvel Universe lineup, Ultimate Spider-Man, has been renewed for a second season. This news should come as no surprise as it has been fairing well with the younger demographic, despite many older Spider-Man fans being disappointed with the kiddie tone. Below are some excerpts from THR's article, including some hints of what we should expect in the second season of the show. The creative team behind the animated series, which includes co-executive producers Man of Action Studios as well as creative consultant Paul Dini, will return for Season 2. Ultimate Spider-Man scribe Brian Michael Bendis (Powers) will also return as consulting producer and pen additional installments of the series. Season 2 will feature Spider-Man team with other heroes from the Marvel Universe including the Avengers as well as explore the origin of S.H.I.E.L.D. trainees with more revealed about Nova,
