

As the film nears its theatrical release, the studio is pushing the hype machine into full gear. Similarly to how Marvel and Disney gave select fans the opportunity to see Captain America: Civil War in its entirety early, Marvel gave determined and eager fans the chance to catch a select 15 minutes of footage from Doctor Strange, and the early response from fans are likely what the studio was hoping for. Fans across the world have been exiting theaters over the last few hours directly after seeing the preview and many are buzzing about the creative and unique visuals behind the film. Not too many details that have come out as a result of the screenings, with the exception of fans getting to see the Stan Lee cameo, although how the cameo works has thankfully remained a secret. Here are just some of the reactions that have made their way onto Twitter: #DoctorStrange 15 min preview proves it will be the most visually

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/doctor_strange/doctor-strange-15-minute-preview-reactions-are-here-a145888