

As you can clearly see if you take a close look at the badge Andrew Garfield is wearing, it reads: "INTERN". While we know that they were filming exterior scenes of Oscorp yesterday, it's unclear whether these were supposed to be taking place inside of the company which comic book fans will know is owned by the villainous Norman Osborn, aka the Green Goblin. It has previously been revealed that Peter Parker and Gwen Stacy will attend some sort of scientific high school in the upcoming movie, leading many to believe that that is where the young hero meets Curt Connors. The question that this brings up is whether Connors (who later becomes the Lizard) is actually working at Oscorp, or that the glasses indicate this is a pre-spider bite Peter who actually gets his powers while doing an internship there! Well, that's my take on it anyway! Be sure to share
