

Note: Figures for DVD and Blu-ray sales lag approx. 2 weeks behind so that accurate figures can be tabulated. In its first week out on Blu-ray and DVD, Sherlock Holmes: A Game of Shadows sold a staggering combined total of 3,288,850 units for a combined gross of $63,419,692.00. That's more than what some films gross at the box office all together. Coming in second was Act of Valor followed by Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance, which also made its debut. Johnny Blaze had a combined DVD and Blu-ray gross of $12,969,233 on the strength of 703,142 units sold. Safe House took fourth place followed by John Carter in fifth. The Barsoom epic was in its second week of release and following a number 1 debut added $9,223,921 boosting its sales gross to $39,116,025. Note: Figures for units sold and earning totals are combination of Blu-ray and DVD sales totals. In

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=62758>