

Green Lantern should be about a simple-minded jock who has to come up with imaginative, new ideas every time he uses the ring. — Duncan Jones (@ManMadeMoon) January 13, 2017

The limit on the rings power should not be about battery life, but the need to be original every time you use it. — Duncan Jones (@ManMadeMoon) January 13, 2017

Mechanics & stakes of Green Lantern always bugged me. Ring that can do anything & you have a tough time winning fights? Hero, please! — Duncan Jones (@ManMadeMoon) January 13, 2017

The hook in the "dumb jock" version of Green Lantern is that he has the power, but lacks the wits to use it. Endearingly frustrating. — Duncan Jones (@ManMadeMoon) January 13, 2017

Anyway, Im not doing Green Lantern. I think he's dumb. :) Hope someone proves me wrong. — Duncan Jones (@ManMadeMoon) January 13, 2017

Have said before, only super hero I would love to make a film of would be Dr Manhattan... and trust me, it would not have

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/green_lantern/duncan-jones-gives-his-take-on-how-to-approach-a-green-lantern-a148159