

Well this is it. The big one that started off the summer season. The 3rd highest grossing movie of all-time worldwide. It was the one movie that all the fans were really looking forward to and is the culmination of Marvel's "Phase 1" movies. It's what they have been building up to since before "Iron Man" came out. This is "The Avengers." So, does it deliver on an epic scale, or does it fail on an epic scale? Let's find out... (WARNING: THERE WILL BE SPOILERS!) Well, as is the common theme with comic book movies this summer, the cast is fantastic. And it's very large. Although not as cold and mean as she is in the comics, Cobie Smulders does a good job as Maria Hill. Samuel L. Jackson is good as Nick Fury, which he should be since this version of Fury
