

Q: I'm not too familiar with Darwin. Can you give me a rundown of who this Darwin is? A: Darwin, a mutant, is a relatively new addition to the X-Men comic world. Nicknamed after Charles Darwin - father of the theory of evolution - Darwin adapts to harsh environments based on an instinctual need to survive. His ability is called reactive adaptation. I want that power in real life - I'm not gonna lie. Q: Will Darwin transform into his pale form? A: Not only will Darwin transform into his pale form, but he will also transform into his obese form, his female form and even his bovine form. Totally messing with you. You just have to wait to see what transformations occur. No spoilers here buddy. Not today. Not evah. No way. Q: In the comics, Darwin was discovered by Moira MacTaggart. Is this the same in X-Men: First Class? A: In our film Darwin
