

Now, I've been fairly vocal about Daredevil before on this site, and it's entirely possible that my obsession is unhealthy. But I'll say this; Marvel, as a company, has done everything right within the past few months. They selected the director of my favorite movie (Kiss Kiss, Bang Bang) to reunite with Robert Downey Jr. and helm and write Iron Man 3, they selected one of my writing inspirations to direct and helm The Avengers, and they even nabbed my second favorite comic writer for the newest Daredevil run in Mark Waid. Needless to say, I've been feeling like Marvel has been making their stuff especially for me, lately. However, the icing on the cake means that Daredevil should return to Marvel Studios for more reasons than one. Here is what I have to say about the current standings on the newest Daredevil film. 1. Does Anyone Really Know What This Movie

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/SoHelpYouGod/news/?a=65705>