

Like many, I've spent the last year wondering who Loki's mysterious allies could possibly be. I have been, and probably will continue to guess, research, stab in the dark and generally, seek any Marvel Comic alien race that could, may or would fit with any of the news that has hit concerning their identity. So far, I have at various times been somewhat/vaguely/kinda/fairly certain that it would be Ultron, Thanos, Kang, Annihilus, The High Evolutionary or maybe even Frosty the Snowman. Right now, to say nobody is sure, would be one of the most monumental understatements I can recall in recent memory. One of the bad boys mentioned above (or quite possibly someone else entirely) will grace the screen this May in cahoots with Loki (at this point Loki is the only thing we are sure of/maybe) with an invading alien force at their disposal. As with the aforementioned cosmic bad boy, the
