

Cartoons, we all grew up with them, many of us still watch them. (I do!) I'm 16, and over these past few years I've noticed something....cartoons are getting worse and worse. See, I'm something of a 90's kid. I grew up with all those Nick shows. Now, for people my age, here's a trip down nostalgic lane. Remember Rugrats? Who can forget Tommy? Can't forget Godzilla, I mean Reptar. How about Hey Arnold? Now you may have to be a bit older to recognize Doug. Ah, those were the days. There are many others, such as CatDog, but the ones above I hold to a higher degree. Today, at age 16, I can still watch these and be entertained. Nostalgia is part of the reason of course, but the main thing about these old cartoons is that they had heart. There was heart put into the stories, often a moral was found. They were also made

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Destroyer14/news/?a=65127>