

After the box office sensation that was Marvel's The Avengers, sequels will inevitably be released within the next few years (with #2 officially in the works, presumably for a 2015 release). Perhaps the most asked question about another Avengers film or two is "Who else will join the team?". Marvel's 'Phase Two' is currently underway, with sequels to Iron Man, Thor and Captain America officially announced (Guardians Of The Galaxy is also expected to be announced at SDCC this summer). Solo films for Black Panther, Ant-Man and others are also in development. So, out of all the characters that Marvel has, who would be worthy to be a part of Earth's Mightiest Heroes? Below is my list of ten heroes who I'd love to see in future Avengers films. Black Panther The King of Wakanda is one of the most desired choices to be featured in an Avengers sequel, and for good reason.
