

Ok, for those who don't know, I've been rather excited about the upcoming Superman reboot for quite some time. If any CBM character needed a good, modern re-telling (not counting Superman Returns, since it's still a part of the Donner franchise), it's the Man of Steel himself. We've had characters such as Batman, Punisher, and Hulk be rebooted, as well as the fact that we'll soon have reboots of Spider-Man, Daredevil, and Fantastic Four to name a few. But Superman, IMO, is probably the character who needs a modern translation the most. He's still an icon among kids AND adults alike, and they need a Superman film other than Donner's two installments to enjoy. Superman Returns failed to use modern technology to its fullest, thus producing a very slow film. From what it appears, however, Man Of Steel will likely make Returns look like Catwoman or Batman & Robin in comparison.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=40920&t=EDITORIAL_Why_I_think_Iman_Of_Steeli_Will_Be_The_Best_Superman_Film_To_Date