

Deadline reports that Elementary executive producer Rob Doherty confirmed plans at today's Television Critics Association press tour to introduce both Professor Moriarty and Sherlock Holmes' father in the CBS drama series which debuts this Fall. Calling the latter, "an interesting shadowy figure," Doherty went on to say this about Moriarty (without going into details as to when he will be introduced in the show). "We want to keep all our secrets. I feel it's important at the end of the day to be true to the spirit of the character," going on to describe the original version as, "a spider at the center of the web of crime in London." As for whether or not we'll see romance between the Holmes and Watson, Jonny Lee Miller said, "Man, woman -- the friendship is core, the partnership. They become colleagues and partners, and there's also the other reason they have to be together
