

Here is something we missed over the weekend that should please fans of the little pointy eared fellas the world over. In an article detailing writer Joe Ahearne's mysterious new Supernatural Thriller pitch at Warner Bros Deadline also reveal that he has signed on to write a new script for Wendy and Richard Pini's cult classic ElfQuest.. It's the British writer's second deal with Warner Bros, which recently hired him to rewrite Elf Quest for Rawson Thurber to direct. Thurber wrote the original draft. Ahearne will write Elf Quest and start the new pitch at the same time. Rawson Thurber (Dodgeball: A True Underdog Story) had previously delivered his script draft back in 2009 but since then we haven't hear a peep about this movie. Some of our younger CBMers may not know much, or have even heard of Elfquest but back when it was published by Marvel's more adult imprint Epic Comics

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsranst/news/?a=48387&t=iElfQuesti_Movie_Back_On_Track_At_WB_New_Writer_On_Board