

A couple of days ago CBM posted two fantastic interviews with the Christian Bale and Anne Hathaway, discussing their work on Christopher Nolan's final Batman installment. Ever since the release of these two articles, the marketing department of Warner Bros. has been trying their level best to keep them off the web. So with that... I wish you full enjoyment reading!

Anne Hathaway "The Cat" Are you happy to be able to finally talk about the movie? "I'm happy to be able to talk about the movie as much as I can. Obviously a few secrets are out now so I can discuss certain things, but quite a few things are still under wraps." What is your reaction to the photo getting out on line (get a glimpse here)? "I asked people to check it out for me, It's a little over whelming." Can you talk about stepping into the shoes
