

We have already seen quite a few adaptations(Live action, animated, comics, plays) and variations on the classic story of Beauty And The Beast. Now we are in lien for another, but with CBM favorite Guillermo Del Toro at the helm. And Emma Watson is being looked at to star.. From Coming Soon.. Producer Denise Di Novi told ComingSoon.net at that film's New York junket today that she's developing an adaptation of Beauty and the Beast alongside del Toro and that Emma Watson is lined up to star. The pic(from Whatculture.com) shows Watson alongside Beast from the 80s tv series. He was played by Ron Pearlman, who of course started as Hellboy in Del Toro's movies of the same name. Not too much is known about the project thus far, but it is believed that the picture will retain the original setting and period rather than update the story like the recent shit
