

Following his epic illustration of Henry Cavill's black suit Superman taking on Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson's Black Adam, George Evangelista is back with a new round of DCEU art. Granting the wishes of many DC fans, George has beefed up Cyborg and added Hal Jordan, Martian Manhunter and the Man of Steel to the recently released group shot. Another rendition sees Superman consulting Kellor about Darkseid. George has also put one of the rumored Green Lantern candidates, James Marsden, behind the hero's familiar domino mask. If you like and appreciate his art, be sure to give George a follow on Instagram. Larger versions of George's artwork can be found on his facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/gze.art>.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/justice_league/epic-fan-art-sees-the-dceus-justice-league-add-green-lantern-and-a148692