

John Shirley is a critically acclaimed cyberpunk, sci-fi and horror writer, writing titles such as City Come-Walkin' and Dracula In Love, as well as the first screenplay of The Crow. He has also written many tie-ins including Constantine and Doom. His short story collection Black Butterflies won a Bram Stoker, the International Horror Guild Award and was one of the Publisher's Weekly best books of 1998. You can learn more about John and his work by clicking HERE to visit his website. Thanks to Titan Books' Tom Green, I was able to submit my questions to the writer about his latest project - the novelization of Resident Evil: Retribution - and much more besides, including The Crow and his interest in writing for Marvel or DC at some point in the near future. For our readers who may not be familiar with your work, could you tell us a little about yourself? I'm
