

Before reading this, be sure to check out my retro review of Ghost Rider #9. After I had finished the comic, I wanted to dig deeper into the story and retcon. The way to do that was to get a few words from the writer of the story of course. I managed to get in touch with the writer, Tony Isabella, where I asked a few questions regarding the issue. (And one about the 2007 Ghost Rider film.) 1. You took over Ghost Rider at issue #6, did you have a set plan for the series forward at that point? Not really. Gary Friedrich had left the series somewhat abruptly. Marv Wolfman and Doug Moench did a quick fill-in for issue #5. I was given an issue already pencilled by Jim Mooney from Gary's last plot. That was issue #6. As I recall, I switched around some of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Destroyer14/news/?a=50358&t=font_colorredEXCLUSIVEfont_Interview_With_Tony_Isabella