

There were rumors way back in 2015 of there being a Green Lantern reboot in the works. In much more recent news it was confirmed last week that David Goyer and Justin Rhodes were brought on as writers for a Green Lantern Corps film. Deadline even reported that Hal Jordan and John Stewart would be the top ring-bearing duos in the "Lethal Weapon in space" premise that's been rumored. With all of this news for Green Lantern fans we had to ask ourselves, who could play John Stewart and what would they look like? How about Mahershala Ali from Marvel/Netflix' Luke Cage? He was great as Cottonmouth, and has some chops, but what would he look like as the Green Lantern / John Stewart? Luckily we have Hamza Javed (hjaved.art) to answer that last question for us in this exclusive piece of fan-art! Hamza actually created two versions of the artwork, one with the standard "Hero" pose and the other with Ali's eyes

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/green_lantern/exclusive-new-fan-art-imagines-luke-cages-mahershala-ali-as-the-a148279