

In just 15 days, another 11 episode batch of Voltron: Legendary Defender will be uploaded to Netflix. Like so many others, were you pleasantly surprised by season one? The latest trailer is teasing that the Paladin leader Shiro is going to meet the same fate as his '80s counterpart, Sven. Do you think that'll actually happen or are we purposely being misled? If season 1 is any indication, the showrunners love to subvert any fan expectations derived from knowledge of the original show. Headover to our sister site, Anime Mojo to watch the new trailer. Voltron: Legendary Defender season 2 premieres on January 20. Team Voltron has been scattered throughout the universe in the aftermath of a perilous battle with Zarkon, Haggar and the evil Galra Empire. Working to bring the lions back together to form Voltron again, the Paladins' plan to defeat the Galra once and for all takes them across the universe in search of new worlds and unexpected allies.
