

Nothing too revealing in this final batch of set videos from The Avengers' New York shoot, but they do give us a closer look at panicked extras running in fear from on an unknown threat as explosions and chaos ensues around them. The third sees an incredibly obnoxious fan shouting after Chris Evans, "I like Batman!" Below that, we have a couple of photos courtesy of Bleeding Cool, which show the scale of the destroyed set and the effort that clearly went into creating these scenes of destruction on the streets of New York. And now, here is what I believe to be the "Leviathan." As RorMachine pointed out in his poll yesterday, DCMarvelFreshman came up with the idea that the "Leviathan" is in fact the camera on the large crane you'll see in the video below. Looking at both it's location and the way in which it moves, this pretty

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45845&t=Explosive Set Footage From iThe Avengersi In NYC The Leviathan Revealed