

This extended trailer for season 3 of The CW's Legends of Tomorrow is jam-packed with new footage, and provides a glimpse at the likes of the Justice Society of America, the returning Jonah Hex (Johnathon Scheaeh), and the new incarnation of Vixen (Maisie Richardson-Sellers). Perhaps most exciting, however, are the shots of Supergirl and The Flash mingling with some of the team, which are almost certainly from the highly anticipated four-show crossover episode. GUEST STARRING STEPHEN AMELL — After the defeat of the immortal villain Vandal Savage and the exposure of the corrupt Time Masters, a new threat emerges. Dr. Nate Heywood (Nick Zano), an unconventional and charming historian, is thrust into the action. After making a shocking discovery, Nate seeks out Oliver Queen (guest star Stephen Amell) for help in finding the scattered Legends. Once reunited, the Legends continue their new mission to protect the timeline from temporal aberrations – unusual changes to history that spawn potentially catastrophic consequences. Their first stop

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/dc\_tv/legends\_of\_tomorrow/extended-legends-of-tomorrow-season-2-trailer-features-a145792