

IGN recently caught up with Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them star Ezra Miller, and the site was quick to push the actor for details on what's to come in Justice League. In the first video below, he describes the relationship between Batman and The Flash, explaining that while they develop a friendship, they're still two heroes who are currently at very different stages of their respective careers. Even so, it sounds like we should expect the interactions between these two to be a highlight there! In the second video, Miller expresses his disappointment over the recent news that Rick Famuyiwa has left The Flash movie over "creative differences" with Warner Bros., but goes on to enthusiastically talk about his excitement for the project no matter who is at the helm. In fact, the actor says he's spending pretty much all of his free time delving into the comic books, something which is sure to be like music to the ears of

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/justice\_league/ezra-miller-explains-the-unique-relationship-between-batman-and-a146615