

Sam "Falcon" Wilson will reportedly sign up to 'fight the good fight' alongside Captain America in the film's sequel. Of course Cap is a sidekick short following the events of Captain America: The First Avengers and will seemingly be at odds with his former best friend in Captain America: The Winter Solider. Anthony Mackie is in negotiations to star alongside Chris Evans in the sequel, which is being helmed by Community directors Joe and Anthony Russo. Keep in mind that Mackie is currently in negotiations and given Marvel's track record, this is far from set in stone. But at the very least, this casting news reveals that Sam Wilson will be fighting alongside Cap in the film. No details were revealed on the plot but I'd imagine that Sam is most likely going to be affiliated with S.H.I.E.L.D. in some capacity. Marvel Studios President Kevin

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=63962>