

In what will most likely be the last major casting announcement for the second season of Game Of Thrones, the "faceless" assassin Jaquen H'gar is to be played by Tom Wlaschiha.. German actor Tom Wlaschiha (Enemy at the Gates) has landed the role of Jaquen, Thrones fan site Winter is Coming first reported. The character is a "Faceless Man of Bravos" and one of the criminals being transported along with Arya to The Wall. As well as Enemy At The Gates Wlaschiha has appeared in 16 Blocks and Valkyrie. Fans of the first season of the show may recall in the last episode, Arya noticed a cage with 3 pretty rough looking customers inside. Well one of them (with his head covered at the time) was supposed to be Jaquen. He is friendly to Arya and seems to know her secret. Later on their destinies entwine even further but I'll stop there so

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=43665&t=Fan_Favorite_Character_Jaquen_Hgar_Cast_In_Game_Of_Thrones_Season_2