

Deviantart user ninjaink created the below mash up poster for two iconic films - Tim Burton's 1989 Batman film, and George Lucas' first Star Wars film (now known as A New Hope). The poster has the layout of the classic Star Wars poster with characters from Batman included. Many thanks to G4TV for the heads up, and click the link below to check out more of ninjaink's work. Episode IV: A New Hero is a 1989 American epic superhero opera film, written and directed by Timothy Burton. It is the first of six films released in the El Caballero de la Noche saga: two subsequent films complete the original trilogy, while a prequel trilogy completes the six-film saga. Groundbreaking in its use of special effects, unconventional editing, and superhero / gothic storytelling, the original movie is one of the most successful and influential films of all time. - ninjaink    Share your thoughts
