

Reactions to the first look at Henry Cavill as Superman were generally positive but many also felt that the look and costume were too dark. That along with the intense look on Cavill's face giving off a more Bizzaro look than anything else. Well the lads at Geek Tyrant felt the same and did some cool photoshop work to give us a look at how Cavill might look if Snyder went a more classic route with the character.. Do you think this lighter, more mainstream look for Supes would have been better than the officially released one? By TwitterButtons.com
