

While I feel the editing and voice-overs etc might have benefitted from a bit more time spent, the overall tone is perfect. I look forward to checking out a full fan trailer if these guys put one together. Miller himself expresses his desire to see the story become a proper feature.. Fox should totally do this. Steve and I obviously don't own the rights to this world the way we do with Nemesis, etc, but who cares? It would be great. It could be. With X-Men: First Class proving that there is still plenty of life left in this franchise, anything is possible. We can hope right? By TwitterButtons.com
