

Source: Stargate Studios Well, it's not exactly fan made when it comes from such a noteworthy company as Stargate Studios but you understand what we're trying to convey here. This incredible short film was made using Cannnon hand held c300 cameras. Being as vague as possible so I don't spoil too much, XXIT is about a condemned android who goes back in time to present-day San Francisco, to save a human. Enjoy the vid below and sound off with your thoughts in the comment section. XXIT from Stargate Studios on Vimeo. And here's a "making- of-video" also courtesy of Stargate Studios. XXIT Behind The Scenes from Stargate Studios on Vimeo. Stargate Studios was founded in 1989 by cinematographer and special visual effects supervisor Sam Nicholson. Stargate Studios is a production company offering visual effects and production services to the film and television industry. They've worked on such notable shows and films
