

Fans angry at DC's planned Relaunch of its entire 52 titles are organising a protest on the Saturday of Comic-Con International. The Facebook page reads: Are you utterly baffled, disappointed and just ANGRY to see how DC ruins your favorite character's design and wipes decades of comic history out of the mainstream universe? Well, you're not alone! And why not make some noise at the biggest pop-culture event this year, where creators, artists and writers appear in person - show them how fans - the fans of the classic characters, the (nevertheless slightly changing) designs, the character's history and personality - really feel about it! Like many of you, most of the issues seem to be with the redesigns of the characters as well as wiping away years of continuity and past DCU stories. If you want to check out the details of the event, the Facebook page can be found HERE What are your thoughts
