

Christmas is a time for giving, but also for receiving. And I want the following things by God. I have included links to the places you can purchase the items should you so wish. First up is this Star Wars Bobba Fett hoodie from ThinkGeek. What else needs to be said? It's a damn hoodie that looks like Bobba Fett's armor.. Next is something I have had my eye on for a while but could never justify buying it because I actually don't know anyone that enjoys splaying chess that much. There are other Superhero/geek themed chess sets out there that are a bit less gaudy but this Marvel Superheroes one is nice and old school and awesome. It can be hard enough to track down but there is one selling on Ebay now.. Next up is something that appeals to the homemaker in me. And something that when I mentioned to my
