

David Fincher's The Girl With The Dragon Tattoo has kinda been adopted as a CBM here because there is a DC graphic novel in the works (that's our excuse and we're sticking with it!). So to coincide with the movie's imminent release this silly season we want you to show us your tats. Once your tattoo is in some way comic book, sci-fi or geek culture related it's fine to submit. Depending on how many we get we will either feature your tats along with some others from around the net or just an article with our CBMers ink which would obviously be incredibly awesome. So get your pics to us. You can post em in the comments section or mail them to us (click the "contact me" button top left), you can show your face or just a close up of the tat itself. As long as the design is
