

Fans have been eagerly anticipating a new look at James Mangold's Logan for quite a while, and that excitement was only heightened after the first 40 minutes of the movie screened to such a positive response recently. We had heard that the final trailer for the March release would be with us at some point this month, but now thanks to Trailer Track (who cite official confirmation from Fox Taiwan), we know it'll be online this Thursday, most likely around 6am PT/9am ET/2pm UK time. Plus, it sounds like we'll also be getting a new trailer for Scarlett Johansson's live-action remake of Ghost in the Shell later on that same day. Logan is set to hit theaters on March 3, but it'll have its world premiere next month at the Berlin International Film Festival. Ghost in the Shell will arrive on March 31.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/the\_wolverine/final-logan-trailer-expected-online-this-thursday-new-ghost-a148216