

There was an almost unanimously negative reaction to the rumor that Megan Fox could possibly be circling the Poison Ivy role in David Ayer's Suicide Squad spin-off, Gotham City Sirens, even though all the report really indicated was that the TMNT actress was researching some specific comic books in the hopes of maybe getting an opportunity to suit-up as the flora-obsessed Batman baddie. It'll probably amount to nothing anyway, but this latest bit of fan-art from Boss Logic could give us some idea of how Fox would look as Ivy. Does this do anything to soften your stance?
