

Via On Location Vacations, four set photos from Darren Aronofsky's anticipated Biblical epic Noah are now online. The movie, which stars Russell Crowe as the Ark building titular character, is currently filming in Upper Brookville, NY. A life sized ark has been under construction in the area for nearly two months. Aronofsky was spotted on set, as well as actors Logan Lerman (who plays Noah's son, Ham) and Madison Davenport (who plays Ham's wife, Na'el). The film's title treatment and a glimpse at some of the costumes have also been revealed on the set. NOAH is a close adaptation of the Biblical story of Noah's Ark. In a world ravaged by human sin, Noah is given a divine mission: to build an Ark to save creation from the coming flood. The screenplay was written by Aronofsky and Ari Handel and revised by Academy Award®-nominated screenwriter John

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=66606>