

Ahead of this month's Toy Fair Mattel (via EW) has debuted some pics of its upcoming Wonder Woman toyline. The Barbie-like action figures include Diana in various different outfits (and on a horse), as well as her mother Queen Hippolyta and Steve Trevor. Unfortunately, we don't get a look at Ares, who has been confirmed as the villain of the piece - but there's a good chance Warner Bros. will attempt to save that reveal for the movie. In addition to the figures, there's a replica of Wondy's God-Killer sword and a golden bow which fires 6 darts. The Wonder Woman toyline is set to hit shelves this Spring. Wonder Woman charges into theaters June 2, 2017.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/wonder_woman/first-look-at-mattels-wonder-woman-toy-line-includes-diana-steve-a148903