

Thanks to Twitter user @Bigr1g, we have a first look at Tessa Thompson fully suited up as Valkyrie on the set of Thor: Ragnarok. Below are some great shots, and they all offer a sneak peek at what we should expect when the fan-favourite character makes her long overdue big screen debut next year. The costume is definitely pretty close to what her comic book counterpart wears (the blue cloak is a welcome touch), but fits in with what we've seen from the other Asgardian characters in Thor: Ragnarok. The face paint is another interesting addition, though that's something we've already had a good look at thanks to the behind the scenes video released by the director a couple of days ago. What do you think of Valkyrie's look in Thor: Ragnarok? Share your thoughts in the usual place. First image of #TessaThompson in full costume as #Valkyrie for #Thor3 #ThorRagnarok #Marvel #TaikaWaititi on last day principle photography pic.twitter.com/Zugrte7Tuh — b1gr1g (@Bigr1g) October 28, 2016 #TessaThompson

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/thor/thor_ragnarok/first-look-at-tessa-thompson-suited-up-as-valkyrie-on-the-set-a146371