

Yesterday, it was revealed that the first trailer for the upcoming sequel G.I. Joe: Retaliation will debut this coming Tuesday. Now, it's been revealed that Entertainment Tonight will feature a sneak peek at the trailer on Monday, a day before the full trailer premiere. Hisstank forum user 'Shogi' posted the following info concerning the airing of the sneak peek, as well as showing our first glimpse at Snake Eyes' (Ray Park) new look for the sequel (Though in very low quality) that will be in the trailer... Hey guys, looks like we'll see part of the trailer even earlier. ET is saying they'll have a first look at the trailer on Monday. Mind you this probably means we'll see part of the trailer while they do voice over work talking about the Rock, Bruce Willis and the movie itself, but one neat thing that comes from this will be..... Lipless Snake Eyes! What do
