

USA Today has debuted our first official images from the next film in the rebooted Apes franchise, War For the Planet of the Apes, and revealed some plot details while they're at it. Following the events of the last movie, Caesar (Andy Serkis) finds himself in a "very dark place", as the struggle to protect his people brings him into conflict with a merciless military man known only as The Colonel (Woody Harrelson). Our first glimpse of the character below may have you wondering if his last name is Kurtz! "The Colonel is willing to go to great lengths to create a world where things can be gentle again," says returning Dawn director Matt Reeves. "But the journey he takes you on is chilling." "He and Caesar ultimately face off, yet there's also bizarrely a kind of respect and understanding from both sides," adds Serkis. "It's understanding the condition of the other person, what they're having to suffer through and what they're trying

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/sci-fi/first-official-war-for-the-planet-of-the-apes-stills-feature-caesar-and-a147394>