

M. Night Shyamalan made some really bad films in the last couple of years. His last good film was probably Signs in 2002. So, can he finally make something worth watching with a big upcoming science fiction film called After Earth (previously known as One Thousand A.E) starring Will Smith and his son, Jaden Smith? It's definitely a possibility. If you haven't heard about it yet, After Earth is described as a sci-fi film which tells the story of a father and son's journey through deserted Earth, after their spacecraft crashes on the planet thousand years in the future. Sounds pretty interesting. Hopefully it will be good. Shyamalan has revealed some concept art and images from the set, and Will Smith also added new photos from the set on his official Facebook page. Check it out: So, what do you think? After Earth is set to hit theatres on June 7, 2013.
