

We still have a long time to wait until HBO's fantasy drama series returns to our screens, and although there isn't too much here to tide you over until then, the very first set photos from the season 3 shoot are well worth a look. They reveal some statues bearing the banner and sigil of House Tully -- Catelyn Stark's family home, before she married Ned and moved to Winterfell...

Yes, as if we didn't already have enough new characters to contend with last season, we will be getting quite a few more in this coming one too -- including from House Tully: Brynden "The Blackfish", and Catelyn's brother Edmure. The third season of Game of Thrones is set to air on HBO in late March, 2013.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsranst/news/?a=64941>