

Cine1 are often extremely reliable when it comes to revealing new theatrical posters (that international Total Recall one-sheet posted here on CBM earlier today for example) but they've also been known to share extremely convincing fan-made versions too. However, this teaser poster for José Padilha's RoboCop definitely seems to be the real deal, though the fact that the QR code located in the bottom left hand corner doesn't work, may be an indication that it's not. Either way, RoboCop is currently set to be released on August 9th, 2013, and stars Joel Kinnaman, Gary Oldman, Samuel L. Jackson, Abbie Cornish and Hugh Laurie.
